

SORIANO RESIGNED PRES OF PAL

PRESIDENT OF PAL RESIGNS

Philippines Air Lines has announced that Gen. Soriano has resigned as president of the Philippines Air Lines and has withdrawn his company — A Soriano and Co. — as general managers of the airline.

The action came at a meeting of the board of directors in Manila and followed what Soriano termed "unwise interference" on the part of some of the members of the board in the management.

Four of the line's principal directors resigned with Soriano.

They are A. M. MacLeod, first vice president; E. T. Bolton, vice president in charge of operations; C. B. W. Anderson, vice president in charge of traffic and sales; and Rafael Ygoa, treasurer and comptroller.

Soriano owns 28 per cent of the Philippines Air Lines, which is rated the country's ninth largest, and whose 25,000 miles routes cover two-thirds of the world, from San Francisco to London.

All resigning officials agreed to remain with the airline in unofficial capacity until May 31, the anniversary of its founding.

HOLLY CITY SEES PEACE IN GEN. MACARTHUR CASE

Vatican source said that history may prove that Gen. MacArthur had a case of "gratuitous" in Korea, but that President Truman was right in removing him because the action tended to pave the way towards peace negotiations.

"The dominating thought," he said, "is that the peace of the world is at stake."

The Vatican source stressed that "it is necessary, for of all, to point out that the Vatican has not issued any official comment or reaction regarding the recall of Gen. MacArthur. This should not surprise anyone, since the topic is purely political, military and technical, which does not directly involve any principle in the moral or religious field on which the Holy See should have reacted."

The source added, however, that the Vatican newspaper, Osservatore Romano, "as a daily newspaper, could not but interest itself in the problem... reaching the conclusion in two articles that, regardless of the great valor and merits of the general, the United States government was willing even to remove an obstacle — if such he were — so as to pave the way towards peace negotiations."

Osservatore Romano is described by the Vatican as non-official, but it is the only organ authorized to give texts of papal addresses, official Vatican communications. Its editorial policy has never proved at variance with the Vatican's official position and the editorials often have preceded official Vatican declarations.

In his two editorials on the MacArthur controversy, the newspaper said the general's removal "is in practice an initiative of peace" which should "ease the situation in the Far East."

FORT SHAFTER MAN SAYS LIFE SAVINGS LOST IN "FLEECING"

A complaint by a Ft. Shafter ward attendant of being fleeced out of $2,042 as an aftermath of a monte game is being investigated by police detectives.

The victim, Santiago Carday, 26, of barracks 2, Ft. Shafter, said police he lost his life savings soon after a card game last Dec. 12 with four other persons in a story at the hotel of Detective H. Wong.

A relative called on him to take a ride up town. He entered a car in which two other persons were waiting. They drove to a house on Liliha St.

A friend man arrived with $2,000 to pay the balance on the house, but a game of monte was started. Each of the three won, but the possessor of the $2,000 refused to pay because "the pot" was "too big."

On the following day, Carday withdrew his savings from the bank to help make the "pot." He exchanged his money for a promissory note.

He said he has not seen any of the fleecers since then.

He said he had seen a man and two small girls stand behind him at a trial.

GOVERNOR-DESIGNATE OREN E. LONG

NEW YORK CONSULATE Melencio Says Loosen Misrepresented Facts

The special purposes fund of the Philippine consulate general in New York has been misrepresented by Congressman Arsenio H. Lacson (N-Manila) and the press, declared Jose P. Melencio, former consul general in New York and now ambassador to Japan, in a cable to his Manila confidante and spokesman, Hipolito Sison of the RFC, under date of April 4, 1951.

Melencio asked Sison to answer the charge, publishing his original letter to the Secretary of Foreign Affairs dated April 4, 1950.

Accordingly, Sison furnished the Manila Times with a copy of the cable and of the original letter as well as the reply of Acting Secretary Felino Sison which is dated March 19, 1951.

For background, Sison explained that upon the return of Congressman Lacson from the United States last year, the latter reported to Acting Secretary Sison an alleged misappropriation of funds in the New York consulate general.

Recently, the charge was made public by the solemn.

Lacson charged that the fund was deposited in a New York bank in the name of a ranking official of the consulate and used by that and other officials of the consulate without proper accounting.

This was denied by Ambassador Melencio himself in his cable. He said that the fund is in the name of the consulate and that the money is in the department of foreign affairs.

Sison emphasized that even before Congressman Lacson's charge, the New York consulate general had taken steps to secure authority of the department of foreign affairs for the proper disposition of the fund.

He said that the fund is in the name of the consulate and that the money is in the department of foreign affairs.

Hawaii Filipinos Suspect They Were Gyped in Deal

Philippine residents in Hawaii in their claim against the Philippine Economic Progress Association (PEPA) for perfection of their title to the land in Mindanao for which they paid P150,000 in 1947.

The appeal for government help was contained in a petition sent recently to high government officials, including the President, members of Congress, Supreme Court Justices, and the Secretary of Agriculture and Natural Resources. A copy of the petition was received by the Chronicle last night.

It appears that the PEPA, a non-stock association which was granted government authority to occupy vacant agricultural public lands in Mindanao for distribution, have sold to Filipino residents of Hawaii lands amounting to P150,000, title of which they have not up to the present, forwarded to the purchasers. The Hawaii Filipinos sought the aid of the government in perfecting their claim to the land "inasmuch as the project is with the tacit consent and encouragement of the Philippine Government."

The petition, signed by the Hawaiian Filipinos who have contributed for the purchase of the land, said "the considerable length of time which has elapsed without any result leads the petitioners to believe that they have fallen victims of unscrupulous promoters; hence, as a last resort they seek shelter and assistance under the protective wings of your powers to grant them title of the portions of land for which they have paid very dearly."

The plan envisaged on the part of the promoters was to acquire the land through cooperative farming by the use of mechanized equipment. This association has been successful in leasing from the government forest zone in Mindanao a parcel of land situated in the municipal districts of Iloilo, Sebu, Kiling, and Kiambo. Cagayan, comprising an area of 12,005. Upon survey of the land, however, it was found that a great bulk of this land has already been leased to the National Land Settlement Administration, and was therefore withdrawn from the PEPA.

The petitioners claim that they have purchased those parcels of land, at 24 hectares each, because they believed that the government will act as their custodian. They claim that Simplicio O. Lindogon, president of the PEPA, came to Hawaii to promote the sale of the lots of 24 hectares to Filipinos there and exhibited official correspondence from high government officials including the Director of Lands, the Agriculture Secretary, and Executive Secretary, purporting to show that the project was under the sponsorship of the government.

Governor-Designate Happy to Be Home But Says Secretary Chapman Cannot Attend Inauguration

Governor-designate Oren E. Long returned from Washington early Sunday, "happy to be home," non-committal on the secretaryship, and reporting that Interior Secretary Oscar L. Chapman will not be here for inauguration ceremonies.

than the tentative May 15 date set last week. "It depends of course on senate confirmation," he explained, "and I want to discuss the matter also with Sen. (Wilfred C.) Tauliama (president of the senate) and Rep. (Hiram L.) Fong (speaker of the house)."

About 60 Democrats, headed by Governor Stainback, and several Republicans, applauded Mr. Long as he emerged from the plane, swamped him with leis and stood around in groups talking with the governor-elect and among themselves for more than a half hour after his arrival.

The governor-elect explained he wanted to know more about needs for extending the session before going into the possibility of his inauguration being held before a joint assembly of the two houses.

Mr. Long, looking very refreshed in spite of the last flight — he left Washington at 12:30 p.m. Saturday and was here at 7:45 a.m. Sunday — greeted everyone by name, posed for camera shots, spoke on the radio and appeared delighted with the whole process.

Mr. Long dismissed questions on who might succeed him to the secretary post. "There's no vacancy there yet," he smiled.

Returning with him on the Pan American stratucon was Dr. Charles L. Wilbur Jr., president of the board of health, back from a successful operation on the island.

Asked whether or not he had made any recommendations, he stated, "No, I have not. I don't know when such recommendations will be necessary and I don't know who I would recommend."

Mr. Long, who takes over the territorial government as "acting governor" on Tuesday following the end of Governor Stainback's term Monday night, told reporters at the airport that Mr. Chapman "regrets he cannot be here for the inauguration."

Turning to his Washington trip, Mr. Long commented, "I found the usual interest in Hawaii, but the usual interest in Hawaii is not the same as it was in the past."

"Unexpected assignments and obligations have arisen to prevent my coming by May 15," Mr. Long said, "but he will be here later with his family."

Mr. Long agreed this might mean an earlier inauguration.

The governor-designate said he has no ideas about an early move into Washington place. "We'll stay at old 2054 (Makiki St.) just as long as we can," he smiled.

Long Nomination Confirmed

WASHINGTON — The White House was expected to send to the senate its appointment of Oren E. Long as governor of Hawaii and Chairman Joseph C. O'Mahony today promised prompt hearings on confirmation by his senate in territorial and similar affairs committee.

who is statehood's prime mover in the senate, has been acquainted with Long since 1937 and is believed likely to endorse the administration choice for governor.

Meanwhile, Long himself said he has not made up his mind about who should succeed him as territorial secretary and indicated that the job might not be filled immediately.

For the self-declared candidate for the job, Honolulu health administrator Edward Toner, left town Friday. Another, Democratic National Committeeman Charles H. Kanihara was scheduled to confer with Long Monday morning and said "probably" immediately afterwards would return to Hawaii.

"In my own mind," Long said, "I have not yet selected anyone to recommend for the post."

Just how soon I shall, it is difficult to say and may depend upon how long I stay here. There is a possibility I may stay only a few days, in which case I would not make a recommendation.

Long returned from his Honolulu trip on Sunday. He said he would be back in Hawaii by Monday.

Less than 48 hours after the White House announced that it had selected Long to take the territorial secretary post, Long said he would be back in Hawaii by Monday.

MESSAGE OF GENERAL DOUGLAS DOUGLAS MACARTHUR

WASHINGTON — Following is a stenographic transcript of Gen. MacArthur's speech before Congress:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and distinguished members of the congress: I stand on this rostrum with a sense of deep humility and pride in the history of the United States. I am an architect of our history who have stood here before me, pride in the reflection that this floor of legislation debate represents human liberty in the process form yet devised.

Here are centered the hopes and aspirations and failures of the entire human race. I do not stand here as advocate for any partisan cause, for the issues are fundamental and reach quite beyond the realm of partisan considerations. They must be resolved on the highest plane of national integrity if our course is to prove sound and our future protected.

I trust, therefore, that you will do me the justice of receiving that which I have to say as solely expressing a considered viewpoint of a fellow American.

I address you with neither rancor nor bitterness in the fading twilight of my life, with but one purpose in mind: to serve my country. (Applause.)

The issues are global, and so interlocked that to consider the problems of one sector-oblivious to those of another is but to court disaster for the whole.

While Asia is commonly referred to as the gateway to Europe, it is no less true that Europe is the gateway to Asia, and the broad influence of the one cannot fail to have its impact upon the other.

There are those who claim our strength is inadequate to protect on both fronts, that we cannot divide our effort. I can think of no greater expression of defeatism. (Applause.)

If a potential enemy can divide his strength on two fronts, it is for us to counter his effort. The Communist threat is a global one.

The successful advance in one sector threatens the integrity of every other sector. One cannot appease or otherwise surrender to Communism in Asia without simultaneously undermining efforts to halt its advance in Europe. (Applause.)

Beyond pointing out these general truths, I shall confine my discussion to the general area of Asia.

Before one may objectively assess the situation, one existing there, he must comprehend something of Asia's past and the revolutionary changes which have marked her course up to the present.

Long exploited by the so-called colonial powers, with little opportunity to achieve any degree of social justice, individual dignity or a higher standard of life such as guided our own noble administration in the Philippines, the people of Asia found their opportunity in the war just past to throw off the shackles of colonialism and to see the dawn of new opportunity, a heretofore unmet dignity, and the self-respect a political freedom.

Mustering half of the earth's population, and 60 per cent of its natural resources, these peoples are rapidly consolidating a new force, both moral and material, with which to raise the living standard and the adaptation of the design of modern progress to their own distinct cultural environments.

Whether one adheres to the concept of colonialization or not, this is the direction of Asian progress and it may not be stopped. It is a corollary to the shift of the world economic frontiers as the whole epicenter of world affairs rotates back toward the area in which it started.

In this situation, it becomes vital that our own country orient its policies in consonance with this basic evolutionary condition rather than pursue a course blind to reality that the colonial era is now past and the Asia people haven't the right to shape their own destiny.

What they seek now is friendly guidance, understanding and support, not imperious direction (applause), the dignity of equality and not the shame of subjugation.

Their prewar standard of life, pitifully low, is infinitely lower now in the devastation of war's wake. World ideologies

Under such conditions, the Pacific no longer represents menacing avenues of approach for a prospective invader. It assumes instead, the friendly aspect of a peaceful lake.

Our line of defense is a natural one and can be maintained with a minimum of military effort and expense. It envisions no attack against anyone, nor does it provide the bastion essential for the offensive operations, but properly maintained, would be an invincible defense against aggression.

The holding of this defense line in the western Pacific is entirely dependent upon holding all segments thereof, for any major breach of that line by an unfriendly power would render vulnerable to determined attack every other major segment. This is a military estimate as to which I have yet to find a military leader who will take exception. (Applause.)

For that reason, I have strongly recommended in the past, as a matter of military urgency, that under no circumstances must Formosa fall under Communist control. (Applause.) Such an eventuality would at once threaten the freedom of the Philippines and the loss of Japan, might well force our western frontier back to the coast of California, Oregon and Washington. (Applause.)

As I understand the changes which now appear upon the Chinese mainland, one must understand to changes in Chinese character and culture over the past 50 years. China up to 50 years ago was a country of a homogeneous, being compartmented into groups divided against each other. The war-making tendency was almost non-existent as they still followed the tenets of the Confucian ideal of pacific culture.

At the turn of the century under the regime of efforts for greater homogeneity produced the start of a nationalist urge. This was further and more successfully developed under the leadership of Chiang Kai-shek, but has been brought to its greatest fruition under a present regime to the point that it has now taken on the character of a unit-dominant aggressive tendency, and nationalism of increasingly dominant aggressive tendencies.

Through the past 50 years the Chinese people have thus become militarized in their concepts and in their ideals. They now constitute excellent soldiers, with competent staffs and commanders. This has produced a new and dominant power in Asia, which for its own purposes, is allied with Soviet Russia but which in its own concepts and methods has become aggressively imperialistic, (applause) with a lust for expansion and increased power normal to this type of imperialism.

There is little of the ideological concept either one way or another in the Chinese make-up. The standard of living is so low that the alleviation of woeful stringencies has been so thoroughly dissipated by war that the masses are desperate and eager to follow any leadership which seems to promise the alleviation of woeful stringencies.

I have from the beginning believed that the Chinese Communists' support of the North Koreans was the dominant one. Their interests are at present paralleled with those of the Soviets, but I believe that the aggressive recently displayed not only in China and Tibet and pointing potentially toward the south reflects predominantly the same lust for the expansion of power which has emanated every would-be conqueror since the beginning of time. (Applause.)

The Japanese people since the war have undergone the greatest reformation recorded in modern history. With a commendable will, eagerness to learn, and marked capacity to understand, they have from the ashes left in war's wake erected in Japan an edifice dedicated to the supremacy of individual liberty and personal liberty, and in the ensuing process there has been created a truly representative government committed to the advance of political morality, freedom of economic enterprise, and social justice. (Applause.)

Politically, economically, and socially Japan is now abreast of many free nations of the earth and will not again fall the universal trust. That it may be counted to wield a profoundly beneficial influence over the course of events in Asia is attested by the magnificent manner in which the Japanese people have met the challenges of war, unrest and confusion surrounding them from the outside and checked Communism within their own frontiers without the slightest weakening in their forward progress. (Applause.)

I sent all four of our occupation divisions to the Korean battlefield from without the slightest qualms as to the effect of the revision of strategic planning if our political aim was to defeat this new enemy as we had defeated the old one (applause).

Apart from the military need, as I saw it, to neutralize this extra protection given the enemy north of the Yalu, I felt that military necessity in the conduct of the war made necessary: (1) the intensification of our economic blockade against China, (2) the imposition of a naval blockade against the China coast, (3) removal of restrictions on air reconnaissance of China's coastal area, and (4) removal of restrictions on the forces of the Republic of China on Formosa, with logistical support to contribute to their effective operations. (Applause.)

For entertaining these views, all professionally designed to support our forces in Korea and to bring hostilities to an end with the least possible delay and at a saving of countless American and allied lives, I have been severely criticized in lay circles, principally abroad, despite my understanding that from a military standpoint the above views have been fully shared by practically every military leader concerned with the Korean campaign, including our own joint chiefs of staff (applause) (standing ovation).

I called for reinforcements, but was informed that reinforcements were not available. I made clear that if not permitted to destroy the enemy built-up bases north of the Yalu, if not permitted to utilize the friendly Chinese force of some 600,000 men to Formosa, if not permitted to blockade the China coast to prevent the Chinese Reds from getting succor from without, and if there was to be no hope of reinforcements, the position of the command from the military standpoint forbade victory.

We could hold in Korea by constant maneuver and in an area where our supply line advantages were in balance with the supply line disadvantages of the enemy, but we could hope at best for only an indecisive campaign with its terrible and constant attrition upon our forces. If the enemy utilized its full military potential.

I have constantly called for the new political decisions essential to a solution.

Efforts have been made to distort my position. It has been said and I am sure that I was a warmonger. Nothing could be further from the truth (applause).

I know war as few other men now living know it, and nothing to me—(applause)—and nothing to me is more revolting. I have long advocated its complete abolition, as its very destructiveness on both friend and foe has rendered it useless as a means of settling international disputes (applause).

Indeed, the second day of September, 1945, just following the surrender of the Japanese nation on the battleship Missouri, I formally cautioned as follows: "Even since the beginning of time have sought rest. Various methods through the ages have been attempted to devise an international process to prevent or settle disputes between nations. From the very start workable methods were found in so far as individual citizens were concerned, but the mechanics of an international process have never been successfully worked out. Military alliances, balance of power, leagues of nations in turn failed, leaving the only path to be by way of the sword of war. "The utter destructiveness of war on stocks out this alternative. I have had our last chance. We will not devise some greater and more equitable system. Armageddon will be at our door. The problem is basic, ecological and involves a spiritual iridescence and improvement of human character that will synchronize with our almost timeless advances in science, literature and all the material and cultural developments of the past 2,000 years.

"It is not the spirit if we are to as (applause). But once war is ended upon us there is no return to page 8.

TWO INDICTED ON CHARGES OF BRIBERY

NEW YORK — Former Long Island University star player Jackie Goldsmith and a once-convicted "fixer," William Rivlin, were indicted today.

Goldsmith was arrested Saturday after a two month search, but Rivlin still is a fugitive.

Both men were charged with bribing L.I.U. players to "dump" the game that school played against Duquesne University at Madison Square Garden, 64 to 53, 1949. Duquesne won, 64 to 53.

District Attorney Hogan said that Rivlin and Goldsmith met "several times" with four L.I.U. players before the Duquesne game and succeeded in persuading them to throw the game for a total of $3,500 in bribe money.

Three days after the "throw" game however, Rivlin was arrested when another attempted "fix" backfired. That was the night of the George Washington-Northeastern College game in the garden, and the plan was to bribe George Washington player David Shapiro.

DILLINGHAM HORSE SOLD TO STRINGER

Tropic Sky, a gray stud by Skymore Bow of Aloha Ore, has been sold to John Stringer, Mysa, Ore., rancher who came to Honolulu to play polo with the Boise, Idaho, team.

While the Idaho team was held to a tie and lost to Maui, Stringer won't return to his ranch empty-handed.

In his polo matches here, he rode three horses sired by Walter F. Dillingham's Tropic Sky. They were Blue Sky, Tintan and Lulu.

A keen observer of horse flesh as well as a polo player and rancher, Stringer realized what it would mean to him to have the horse that sired polo ponies like the trio he used here.

So he made arrangements to purchase Tropic Sky from Mr. Dillingham. The horse was shipped to the mainland yesterday on the Hawaiian Craft.

Arthur Perkins, manager of the Hawaii Polo and Racing club, said Tropic Sky has been sold to Mr. Stringer to breed to a lot of great mares at the latter's Oregon ranch.

"We are losing a great horse and it will take a long time to replace Tropic Sky with all his great qualities, wonderful temperament and blood line," said Perkins.

Nether Mr. Dillingham nor Mr. Stringer would comment on the price of the horse, but it is known that Tropic Sky is a very valuable horse and veteran horsemen believe several thousands of dollars changed hands in the deal.

They recalled that some years ago Mr. Dillingham refused offers as high as $35,000 for Skymore, who sired Tropic Sky. Skymore, is by Burma, who twice won the Ascot Cup and who once was owned by Mrs. F. F. Baldwin of Maui.

GENERAL DOUGLAS MACARTHUR

It is with a sense of justifiable pride that Filamerican Tribune expresses its full concurrence and accord on the policies expounded by General of the Army Douglas MacArthur in his historic speech before a joint session of the Congress of the United States sometime ago. That speech was a masterpiece. It will stand side by side with Lincoln's now immortal "Gettysburg Address."

There is an oft-repeated and hackneyed expression that "you can't put a good man down." Although true, this is applicable to Gen. MacArthur. A great soldier and a great statesman, in the words of Winston Churchill, General MacArthur has already carved a niche in the hearts and soul of the American people and no amount of derogatory campaign against him by people who are jealous of his stature and accomplishments can minimize his greatness.

The great debate on far eastern policy is now raging in mainland. We hope that in due time General MacArthur's stand will not only be vindicated but that it will be the basis upon which a lasting and desirable peace can be arrived at by the peoples of the earth. There is no reason in the world, why supposedly intelligent and enlightened peoples could not find the remedy to attain the Holy Grail of world brotherhood.

"Peace on earth and good will to all men," has been the cherished hope and dream of mankind since the Son of God proclaimed it to the whole world. General MacArthur in the far east is the embodiment of that hope. Will the American people finally see the light of that hope?

OREN E. LONG

The Territory of Hawaii should congratulate itself in its good fortune of having a new Governor of the category and caliber of Oren E. Long. No better choice could have been made by the President of the United States; and no appointment is so richly well-deserved.

Governor Long has been here so long that he knows and understands definitely the needs, the aspirations and the problems of the people of this Territory.

He has the background, the experience, and the temperament that will sustain him in the arduous and difficult task of chief executive. It is hoped that politically, he may be able to merge the divided party to which he belongs. For in a democracy as lived and practiced in this good, old U.S.A. there is nothing like having two strong political parties that should act as the fiscalizer of the acts of the other.

Hawaii is on the threshold of statehood. It is well that on the eve of its becoming a full-fledged member of the American union, we should have at the helm of the Territorial ship of State, Governor Oren E. Long, who in a statement issued from Washington, D. C., pledged his all-out and unconditional support and aid in uncompromising and relentless fight against the forces of communism that know into the very vitals of the economic and social life of this Territory.

Filamerican Tribune wishes Governor Long more power and may God keep him within the bounties of His blessings always.

Challenge to Rotarians

By F. NERI

Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs

World-mindedness has always been the ideal of all peoples who have concerned themselves with the happiness of mankind. The only one Epictetus expressed the true spirit of Rotary when he endorsed the view of Socrates that he was "a citizen, not of Athens or Greece but of the world." Centuries later another philosopher asserted that man will realize some day that the fruition of his significance lies in his willingness to submerge self-interest in the interest of the world.

Man awoke from the terrors of nature to fear of his fellowmen. Such fear grew less and less with time and subsequent knowledge of his fellow beings, but he found it necessary to seek safety and security together with other people faced with the same problems. With the growth and expansion of communities arose diverse problems such as the conflict of beliefs and the clash of interests. This tended to tear apart the oneness of the human species. No longer was nature the object of conquest to insure survival. Force asserted its sway. The mighty sought to oppress the weak and impose the rule of might. Men who refused to bend under the yoke, men who loved their freedom, decided to test their strength and resources together against aggression. To insure success they worked for tolerance and understanding among diverse problems. Gradually the idea of community-mindedness was conceived and the spirit of world-mindedness, or international cooperation was born.

In the light of the tension and uncertainty that grips the world today, this objective Rotary assumes an importance and urgency which is dedicated. Whether we like it or not, Rotary is facing today a mighty challenge. It is the subtle, creeping, and sweeping challenge hurled by a movement that has engulfed half of the world. Its purpose is to destroy those cherished objectives. For the so-called world brotherhood that this new ideology proclaims and schemes to impose upon the world is not the same old brotherhood of cooperation and understanding that Rotary has always stood for. It is rather a brotherhood of blind obedience and subservience to a plan that demands the material and spiritual conquest of the countries of the earth and their final extinction. In short it is the surrender of liberty, the callous exploitation of peace-loving peoples for the aggrandizement and edification of the leaders of the movement. No Rotarian can ever claim a world-minded attitude without squarely facing this grim and stark reality.

Rotary demands a broad outlook beyond the bounds of nationalism. In its purest original concept it calls for the establishment of real world brotherhood and neighborliness. That reason it fights and must fight through various means to remove national barriers not for the purpose of promoting international unity and amity and establishing peace among peoples of good will, but only for the propagation of its own ideology and for the complete domination of the world through force. It is a world-minded organization in the sense that it is not limited to much less reconcile himself with a system which encourages the ruthless exploitation of peoples and the suppression of their freedom of thought, freedom of speech, and freedom of assembly. Democratic civilization and progress thrive on such freedoms. They constitute their lifeblood. On the other hand, the new ideology suppresses them. In their stead, it establishes espionage and terrorism. It has not only cut off its subject peoples from all free sources of information but has imposed a heavy penalty on those caught trying to know what is really going on beyond its borders. It gives currency only to those ideas and ways of thought that serve its purpose.

Rotary teaches us to resist every tendency to think solely in terms of national or racial superiority. By so doing it instills in us the spirit of true world brotherhood. It helps us acquire an international perspective. Yet one-half of mankind today lives in a state of terror, not because the people enjoy being under such cruel and wretched conditions, but simply because they are powerless to escape the trap in which they have been caught. Despite official denials, anti-Semitism is as alive in the countries which this new political and social philosophy controls as it was when Hitler was in power. Silently and ruthlessly, it has embarked on a program of extermination of the Jewish people against the minorities, a program as terrible as Hitler's purges. And the victims are the very nationalities that comprise the program, for over whom the new system has imposed its rule.

In these same lands, wholesale shifts of population have been made since the last war. The purpose is not to protect the vulnerable areas whose native minorities could not be trusted to fight invaders. Rather it is to eliminate military liabilities. In some cases this ruthless shifting of population has amounted to genocide or race destruction.

The search for and development of common grounds for agreement with peoples of other lands is an urgent need of today. It is no less than that of Democracy. This objective the opposing ideology has repeatedly thwarted by sowing the seeds of discord in order to promote its own ends.

It has not been the least intention of collaboration peacefully with the democracies of the world. On the contrary, it has encouraged and assisted in the promotion of poverty anywhere is dangerous. This doctrine is the very antithesis of the tactics of the ideology, which promotes and encourages in chaos and disorder. Hunger, disease and the instruments it employs in order to attain its goals. That is why the countries professed this ideology have refused to elaborate with the United Nations in the improvement of the economic and social conditions of the peoples inhabiting the less developed areas of the world. This is why they have opposed the United States Program of economic recovery in Europe and have refrained from participating in international organizations devoted to the improvement of the economic and social conditions of the peoples of the world.

Rotary requires every member to practice tolerance and understanding as a step towards international goodwill. It recognizes certain basic moral and spiritual standards which, in practice, will insure a richer, fuller, and more abundant life. But such attitude is not possible in a world supported by a philosophy which derives its strength from intolerance, suspicion, deceit and the sterile hopelessness of dialectic materialism.

Faced with these difficulties our duty as true Rotarians is plain. We must defeat the attempt to foist on us a new way of life contrary to the spirit of democracy, a way of life which aims at the utter destruction of all that is dear to us. We are at an impasse now and this is the desperate dilemma which demands immediate decision. This challenge faces us with increasing urgency in our own country where, it seems, a dangerous fog has made its way in the last few years. Our government's success in blocking its plan to extend its grip demands the immediate unselfish and wholehearted support of all of us. If that success is to be permanent, except in China and Korea, the ends of this powerful subversion and infiltration rather than by force of arms. In a sense this method is more dangerous. In attacking the existing government, it relies on the technique of weakening the national mind and character of the countries it seeks to destroy.

The first challenge to us as Rotarians is the systematic and determined campaign launched by subversive agents to create conflicts among ourselves. Their ultimate aim is the overthrow of our existing government and the willfully we have been aiding these insidious efforts. Some of us, for quite innocent reasons, have given support to certain elements bent on defeating the measures instituted by our government for its own preservation. To create suspicion and foster distrust among our leaders is exactly what these agents would wish. And that precisely is what some people who would suffer most under this alien system are doing. As world-minded Rotarians, we have the paramount duty of preventing the achievement of this end. It is time that we Rotarians took a stand against this insidious subversion.

All this runs counter to the spirit of Rotary. So a truly world-minded Rotarian must stand up to defend the rule of law and order. He must ever stand ready to defend the liberty of the individual, freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and freedom from persecution. In many parts of the world today this rule has been abolished. They have been replaced by an iron rule that is merely an instrument of policy divorced from every concept of justice or equity. That new instrument has found expression in bloody persecutions, in periodic purges, and in the population mockery of democracy. It is being observed in Czechoslovakia and Communist China where nocturnal arrests and executions are the oracles of the day. Contrary to the principles of justice is enforced where naked force is enthroned?

Every Rotarian is expected to promote peace among nations and to support sacrifices for the attainment of that ideal. It is expected to foster the spirit of internationalism by directing its activities towards the improvement of the standards of living of the peoples, realizing that poverty anywhere is dangerous. This doctrine is the very antithesis of the tactics of the ideology, which promotes and encourages in chaos and disorder. Hunger, disease and the instruments it employs in order to attain its goals. That is why the countries professed this ideology have refused to elaborate with the United Nations in the improvement of the economic and social conditions of the peoples inhabiting the less developed areas of the world.

This is why they have opposed the United States Program of economic recovery in Europe and have refrained from participating in international organizations devoted to the improvement of the economic and social conditions of the peoples of the world.

Rotary requires every member to practice tolerance and understanding as a step towards international goodwill. It recognizes certain basic moral and spiritual standards which, in practice, will insure a richer, fuller, and more abundant life. But such attitude is not possible in a world supported by a philosophy which derives its strength from intolerance, suspicion, deceit and the sterile hopelessness of dialectic materialism.

no other alternative than to apply every available means to bring it to a swift end. War's very object is victory, not prolonged indecision (applause).

Of the nations of the world, Korea alone, up to now, is the sole one which has risked war against Communism. The magnitude of the courage and the attitude of the Korean people defy description (applause). They have chosen to risk death rather than slavery. Their last words to me were: "Don't scuttle the Pacific!" (Applause).

I have just left your fighting sons in Korea. They have done their best there, and I can report to you without reservation that they are splendid in every way (applause).

It was my constant effort to preserve them and end this savage conflict honorably and with the least loss of time and a minimum sacrifice of life. Its growth and the bloodshed it has caused me anguish and anxiety. Those gallant men will remain often in my thoughts and in my prayers always (applause).

I am closing my 32 years of military service (applause). When I joined the army, even before the turn of the century, it was the fulfillment of all my boyish hopes and dreams. The world has turned over many times since I took the oath at West Point, and the hopes and dreams have all since vanished, but I still remember the refrain of one of the most popular barbers' ballads of that day: "I proclaimed most proudly that old soldiers never die; they just fade away."

And like the old soldier that ballad, I now close my military career and just fade away, an old soldier who tried to his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty. Good bye (applause).

The tragedy of Korea is further heightened by the fact that its military action is confined to its territorial limits. It condemns that nation, which it is our purpose to save, to suffer the devastating impact of full naval and air bombardment while the enemy's sanctuaries are fully protected from such attack and devastation.

There are some who for varying reasons would appease Red China. They are blind to history's clear lesson, for history teaches with unmistakable emphasis that appeasement but begets new and bloodier wars. It points to no single instance where this end has justified that means, where appeasement has led to more than a sham peace. Like blackmail, it lays the basis for new and successively greater demands until, as in blackmail, violence becomes the only other alternative.

Why, my soldiers asked me, sender military advances, would an enemy in the field? I could not answer (applause).

Some may say to avoid spread of the conflict into an all-out war with China—Others, to avoid Soviet intervention. Neither explanation seems valid, for China is already engaging with the maximum power it can command, and the Soviet will not necessarily meet its actions with our moves like a cobra. Any enemy will more likely strike whenever it feels that the relative of military and other personalities is in its favor on a world-wide basis.
